$150,000 FIRE IN DANVILLE.

SIX WAREHOUSES TOTALLY LOST.

Fire Broke Out at 3 O'clock This Morning and Swept a Whole Tobacco District—Many Narrow Escapes But no Lives Lost.

Special to the Telegram.

Danville, May 22.—Fire destroyed the immense Acres' Tobacco warehouse, the Banner warehouse, of F. X. Burton, Brown's Package warehouse, Chambers & Patterson's warehouse, and Hodnett's storage warehouse.

All save Brown's warehouse proved a total loss, aggregating fully $150,000, about half of which, only, was covered by insurance.

The fire broke out at 3 o'clock this morning.

There were many narrow escapes, but fortunately no lives were lost.

TAYLOR FLEES FROM THE LAW.

Detective Sent to Arrest Him for Being Accessory to Goebel Murder--He Escapes in a Closed Carriage--Feeling Against Him Very Bitter.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Louisville, Ky., May 22—A telegam received today from a trustworthy source in Indianapolis says that W. S. Taylor, of Kentucky, has reached that city for consultation with friends.

The moment the Supreme Court decision was made public a detective was sent to Indianapolis for Secretary of State Finley and any other Republicans under indictment that may be there.

A bench warrant was issued for Taylor and a detective was sent to arrest him. Taylor eluded the detective in a closed carriage and escaped into Indiana. This brings out the fact that an indictment against Taylor was really found by the Franklin county grand jury and held up by Judge Cantrell.

The feeling here today is very bitter. The Republican minor State officers refuse to surrender to the Democrats and will carry their cases to the United States Supreme Court.

Five Republican State officers under indictment for being accessories to the murder of Goebel were pardoned by Taylor. Under a decision of the Supreme Court, these pardons will debar further prosecution.

ONLY A SMALL SHARE YET.

Our Comparatively Insignificant Position in Cotton Mannfacturers For Export.

Boston Journal.

American cotton manufacturing is now active and prosperous, and the American export trade is strong. But we are a long way yet from the position which by good right we should hold in the markets of the world as a seller of cotton fabrics. America controls less than 5 per cent. of the world's export trade in cotton goods, which aggregates more than a half a billion dollars. One single English country holds 66 per cent. In Egypt American manufacturers sold more than $7,000,000. It is true, of course, that Egypt is virtually a British colony, and that, even without discriminating tariffs, trade tends to "follow the flag." But the further fact which Dr. Wilson cited, that the United States stands only fifth on the list of cotton exporting nations, below even little Switzerland, is quite convincing proof that there is a great deal to do before our cotton manufacturers enjoy that proportion of the world's market to which they are honestly entitled.

Even now, although we are exporting only 5 per cent of the cotton fabrics bought and used by the outside world, the trade has unquestionable value. It is a steadying factor, a kind of industrial safety-valve. It is capable of being made of vastly greater importance, and New England manufacturers have the enterprise and experience which qualify them to take the lead.

GEORGE TAYLOE WINSTON, LL. D.,

WHO DELIVERED THE COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL LAST NIGHT, ON "OPPORTUNITIES FOR BOYS IN NORTH CAROLINA."

DECLARES BECKHAM GOVERNOR.

The Supreme Court Affirms the Decision of the State Court---Taylor Vacates.

Washington, May 21.—The United States Supreme Court today decided the Kentucky Governorship case in favor of Democratic Governor Beckham, in both quo warranto and the equity proceeding for want of jurisdiction, the court dismissed the writ of error from the Kentucky Court of Appeals. The opinion was handed down by Chief Justice Fuller, and a vigorous dissenting opinion was delivered by Justice Harlan, the only one to advocate a reversal of the Kentucky court decision. Justice Brewer, Brown and McKenna also dissented from portions of the opinion.

In dismissing the writ of error the Chief Justice said the Court should be the last to overstep the bounds limiting its own jurisdiction and that in the determination of cases of this character, contests for State offices must necessarily be settled by the political branch of the Government. That branch had acted in the Kentucky case when the General Assembly took jurisdiction. There was no appeal from the Assembly's decision which was favorable to Goebel and Beckham, except to the tribunal of the people, which tribunal the Chief Justice said, was always in session. He also said the case was purely a State case—that Kentucky was in the full possession of its faculties as a member of the Union and that there was no emergency at this time calling for interference of the general Government to enforce constitutional gurantees or to put down domestic violence.

"For more than one hundred years the Constitution of Kentucky has provided that contested elections for Governor and Lieutenant Governor shall be determined by the General Assembly.

"The highest court of the State has often held and in the present case has again declared that under their constitutional provisions the power of the General Assembly to determine the result in exclusive and that its decision is not open to judicial review.

"Many of the States have similar constitutional provisions and similar statutes.

TAYLOR ORDERS SURRENDER.

Louisville, May 21—Governor Taylor late this afternoon issued the following order:

"To General Collier, Frankfort:

"The Supreme Court having decided in favor of Mr. Beckham, nothing now remains to be done except to dismiss the militia and surrender your office to your successor, appointed by Mr. Beckham. You are, therefore, directed to at once dismiss the militia and to surrender your office to your successor as soon as the mandate of the Supreme Court is filed, or sooner, if you wish. Tender the military my kindest regards and sincere thanks for their brave, manly and patriotic service. "W. S. TAYLOR."

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT POMONA.

The Barn, Several Outhouses, a Lot of Grain and Farm Machinery Destroyed. Loss Partially Covered by Insurance.

Fire at Pomona yesterday evening destroyed the barn, the fertilizer house, the granary, the carriage house and harness room, harness, grain, three wagons and a binder and mowing machine.

The blaze was discovered in the barn, just west of Mr. J. Van Lindley's residence, about 7:30 o'clock, and so rapidly did it burn that it was impossible to save any of the contents of the building, with the exception of fourteen horses and mules. When the last animal was led out the barn was a roaring furnace.

Had the wind been blowing stronger the residences of Messrs. Lindley and Boren, the office of the J. Van Lindley Nursery Company and the Pomona Store Company's store would also have been burned.

The destroyed property was owned by the J. Van Lindley Nursery Company. The exact loss is not known, though it is considerable, partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

THE OPPORTUNITIES FOR BOYS.

DR. WINSTON'S GREAT SPEECH.

"It Makes Not So Much Difference How Far You Have Traveled as Upon What Road You Are Traveling"--- A Manual Training School the Need of Greensboro. Graduating Exercises of the High School Last Night --- The Diplomas and Prizes Awarded.

The chapel of the Lindsay Street Graded School building was filled to overflowing last night by those who had come out to witness the graduating exercises of the class of 1900, one of the most promising classes ever sent out from the public schools of this city. By far the most interesting and instructive feature of the exercises was Dr. George T. Winston's most admirable address on "Opportunities for Boys in North Carolina." Dr. Winston is known as one of the brainiest and most resourceful men North Carolina has yet produced, and his speech last night confirmed those who heard him in the opinion that the State has no more useful or patriotic son.

The exercises were opened with a scripture reading and prayer by Rev. Livingston Johnson, after which Superintendent Grimsley introduced the class of 1900, composed of the following young ladies and gentlemen:

Alice Cartland, Nellie Glascock, Florence Ledbetter, Etta Medenhall, Fannie Mebane, Kate Johnson, Anna Reynolds, Mary Peters, Lelah Starr, Linnie Ward, Edna Wooton, Hallie Wooton, Grace Smith, Haywood Alderman, William Osborne, Charles Weaver, George Foushee, Thomas Beall, May Bain, Fannie Truitt.

In introducing the class the Superintendent spoke of it in the highest terms of praise, saying it was a delight to send out such bright and promising graduates from the Greensboro Public High School.

Mayor Taylor delivered the diplomas in a very neat and appropriate speech, in which he commended the city for the interest taken in educational matters. In the course of his remarks he said:

"As Greensboro bears the proud distinction of being the first town in North Carolina to vote a special tax for the support of public schools, may she also be first to add to the usefulness of the schools by establishing in connection with them an industrial department. I am firmly convinced that the first city in North Carolina that affords her young people an opportunity to obtain industrial training in connection with securing a common school education will take a stride forward in material prosperity that will take her competitors years to overcome."

This sentiment was heartily applauded by the audience.

Dr. Winston was eloquently introduced by Prof. J. Y. Joyner as "the Henry of Navarre who has been in the thickest of the fight in every educational battle in North Carolina since the Civil war."

Dr. Winston said he came with a message as to the opportunies our State has to offer her young men. "North Carolina," he said, "has been called the nursery of men for other States. This statement implies, first, that she does produce men, and secondly, having produced them, she fails to furnish opportunities equaling those they may obtain in other States." He declared that, whether tested on the battlefied, or on the barren hillside farm in a hard struggle for existence, or by the fireside in the domestic circle, or in the councils of the nation, North Carolina has always produced men, and given them freely to other States. He laid down the proposition that the real basis of all opportunities in life is the man himself.

The speaker said the opportunities offered young men in North Carolina today are exceptionally rare, better than in any other State in the Union, owing to the great changes that have taken place within the past 15 or 20 years. For 150 years North Carolina has been purely an agricultural State, with scarcely any manufactories and no commerce. Our people have lived by tilling the soil, all other lucrative occupations being confined to the professions and merchandising. For a while we maintained ourselves under these conditions fairly well. Until 1840 we had a larger population than Massachusetts, being the fifth State, in point of inhabitants, in the Union. So long as the struggle for wealth was confined to the soil and was wrought out by the mule and plow, by the assistance of negro labor, we maintained ourselves remarkably well.

"But there came a mighty change. About 1840 the world began to use machinery propelled by steam and directed by intelligent, educated labor. And we didn't enter the struggle. Both our labor and land forbade the introduction of machinery until we were forced to do so. The fertile States of the Mississippi valley began to be filled by the young men of New England, who went out with the steam engine and the McCormick reaper. And the great struggle between the North and the South went on. The Southern man was unable to maintain himself in the struggle, with the ignorant and inefficient negro slave as a burden on his back. (He did not ride the back of the negro, as many thought.) * * *

"The transition from the old to the new was a terrible convulsion. The heroism of civil war was not equal to the heroism of the period following the war I mean the heroism of the man who for the past thirty years has tried to make a living for himself and family on the little farm upon which he was born. With lower prices for each succeeding year's product of his toil, often with a decreasing yield, with a currency constantly increasing in value, and his children deprived of the opportunies of an education, the struggle of that man is the most heroic and pathetic incident in the whole American history.

"We are not out of the struggle yet, but we are coming out and coming out rapidly. We are learning the industrial power of our State, the real power of the age." * * *

Reference was made to the fact that North Carolina is the only State in the American Union which nature has given three large areas which may be utilized as health and pleasure resorts by people from other States. It is possible to have the resorts on the Atlantic coast, in the sandhill country and in the mountains to bring more money into the State than is received for our agricultural products. The possibilities of the mineral and trucking industries were also referred to. At the present ratio of increase the trucking industry alone will shortly contribute one-half as much to the wealth of the State as is received from all other sources.

Continuing, Dr. Winston said our chief possibilities of wealth lie in manufacturing. To illustrate the growth in this direction, he stated that while in High Point recently he met a man who was there to place orders for $40,000 worth of furniture. The output of the High Point factories for the past twelve months, he said, amounted to $1,000,000, whereas ten years ago it was $25,000. We have begun to understand that there is more money in putting the raw material in the finished product and selling it than in selling the raw material and buying it back in the finished product. Thirty thousand men in the cotton mill produce the wealth of 100,000 in the cotton field. The development of our manufacturing interests will solve the problem as to what to do with the negro. We can use him as a laborer to produce the raw material and take the white man in the factories and mills to produce the finished product. The manufacturer in Switzerland pays 25 cents for a pound of Sea Island cotton and sells the finished product for $25. It takes brain, and not muscle, to make the transformation.

In concluding the speaker declared that we can't win in the struggle without preparing for it, and added that here in Greensboro should be established in connection with the public schools of the city a manual training school, such as exist by the score in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and other Northern and New England States.

PRIZES AWARDED.

Superintendent Grimsley announced that a few years ago Mr. E. P. The Superintendent has wisely employed this money in buying good books, by Southern authors when pos-

RECEPTION AT WHITE HOUSE.

MR. AND MRS. MCKINLEY TO RECEIVE

The Mystic Shriners Kept the President From Charlotte---What The Radicals Say about the Amendment.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

Washington, May 22—For three days this week, the freedom of the city of Washington will be extended to the Nobles and Arabs of the Mystic Shrine, of North America. The advance of the great number of people expected to visit Washington this week, arrived Saturday night, and Sunday. The crowds kept arriving at the two railway stations all day Monday.

The program for the meetings have all been arranged, and include both day and night parades. The torchlight procession tonight will be the most important of the public ceremonials, and it will be followed by a grand display of fireworks on the monument grounds.

President McKinley, who gave up the idea of going to Charlotte to attend the celebration of the singing of the Mecklenburg declaration of Independence, in order to be in Washington that he might be here during the meeting of the Mystic Shriners, will take an active part in the various programs arranged for the pleasure of the visitors. The program arranged includes a reception at the White House Wednesday night by Mr. and Mrs. McKinley. The reception will be a dress affair, and is expected to be a pleasant feature of the gathering.

The headquarters of the Mystic Shrine is located at the Riggs House. The lobbies of all the hotels of the city, however, are well filled, and all of the houses report that they are doing a good business.

The South is well represented at the meeting. Among the visitors here are many from Virginia, North Carolina, and other nearby states. The trains this morning were expected to bring a large number of people from Richmond and points in Virginia.

Representative Brownlow, of Tennessee, who has the matter of the Castle Pinkney branch soldier home project in charge, is confident that the House committee on Military Affairs will report it favorably. He has strong hopes that there will be no opposition in the committee, and that the report may be signed by all of the members. Mr. Brownlow has the report, it is said completed, and it will be submitted to the full committee at its meeting today.

Senator Pritchard and Representative Linney, both profess to be confident of the defeat of the proposed constitutional amendment in North Carolina. They are in common with other Republicans basing their belief upon their ability of being able to to convince the white voters of the rural counties of the State, that the amendment, if adopted, will disfranchise white voters as well as negroes. The Democratic members from North Carolina say that the Democracy is doing everything possible to overcome this argument on the part of the Rebublicans. Speakers and literature, it is said, will be sent out into every county in North Carolina explaining the amendment in language so simple that it cannot be misunderstood. Under the proposed amendment they say not a single white man will lose his vote in North Carolina.

The decision of the Supreme Court in the Kentucky case in favor of Beckham was generally anticipated, and caused very little comment. The decision will settle the contest, and will be fought out at the polls in November next.

An American Reporter.

They have a reporter on one of the Williamsburg papers who may not be much on style, but for placid, nervy "get there" he is a jewel. A little while ago he was assigned to a political meeting and asked to give a good report of it. Now, it happened that the festivities were conducted entirely in Polish, a language of which the young man knows nothing. This fact, however, did not feaze him a bit. He made his way through the hall, pushed up to the platform and sat down with the secretary. For several minutes he industriously took notes and finally the secretary, turning to him, pumped out a volley of Polish.

"I am not in it, dear boy," retorted the young man as he turned again to listen to the speaker.

The secretary looked surprised. Finally he went out and brought in a man who asked in English:

"Are you a Polish reporter?"

"Nope," was the reply. "I am an American one."

"Do you understand our language?"

"I never heard it before," retorted the scribbler, "but I think I have picked up enough since I have been here to give a rattling good story."

And he did.—New York Press.

There Was Sorrow There.

The colonel halted his horse in front of a Dakota dugout and uttered a vigorous "Hello!" and after a minute a towheaded girl of about 16 years of age showed up and looked him over and said:

"Now, then, what ye whoopin fur and who be ye?"

"Can I get anything to eat here?"

"Not a thing."

"Any water for my horse?"

"The spring's gone dry."

"How far is it to the river?"

"Dunno."

"Please ask your father to step out."

"Pop's bin on a drink for a week."

"And your mother?"

"She's got the toothache. That's her cryin."

"Haven't you got a brother?"

"Yep, but he got snake bit yesterday and don't feel well."

"Well, what about you?" persisted the colonel. "You seem to be all right."

"Oh, but I ain't," she replied as she made ready to disappear. "I was to git married yesterday, but my feller got shot by an Injun, and it'll take two weeks to ketch on to another. This ar' a house of sorrow, sir, and ye will please to ride on and not ask any more fool questions!"—New York Sun.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

NAPOLEON AT ST. HELENA.

His Views on the Precautions Taken to Prevent His Escape.

One of the extracts from Dr. O'Meara's St. Helena diary in The Century records Napoleon's views on the precautions taken to prevent his escape.

He spoke anew about escaping and said that if he was inclined to try it, which he was not, there were 95 chances in 100 against his effecting it. "But," said he, "this jailer every week imposes new and vexatious restrictions upon me, just as if I was in a place where I had nothing to do but to step into a boat and be away. When I was at Elba, it was different. It is true that while one lives there is a chance of escape. Although ironed and chained down, inclosed in a cell of stone and every human precaution taken against a possibility of it, still there is a chance of escape, and the only way to prevent it is to put me to death.

"This is the only sure way. Let him put me to death, and all uneasiness on the part of the European powers, Lord Castlereagh himself and his government will cease. No more expense then: no more squadrons to watch me or poor soldiers, fatigued to death with pickets and guards or harassed with carrying burdens up those precipices. I am sure those poor devils have reason to hate me and wish my death. They must, however, be conscious that the fatiguing duties imposed upon them are unnecessary and vexatious, as the sight of the island must convince every one but a suspicious coglione that escape from it was nearly impossible unless, as I have said before, that while there is life there is a chance, if attempted.

"Where could I go to, allowing that I got out of the island? Every place I could arrive at I would find enemies to seize me. This governor's conduct will soon be known in England and will not procure him any credit there. Those officers all will write an account of the unnecessary rigor with which I am treated and their opinion of it. The newspapers will be full of it."

Saved the Bank's Money.

"Whenever I buy anything," once said Russell Sage in telling the story, "I make it a rule to talk with the salesman. I am a member of a great many different boards of directors in a great many lines of investment, and I often find this information of great service. Some time ago I went into a large clothing store to buy a suit of clothes at a low price that I had seen advertised. I bought the clothes for $14, I think, and in talking with the clerk I found the lot had been sent to his store from a big manufacturing concern to be sold on commission. I got them for less than cost. Now, I have kept a general store and understand that business, and there is no money in that sort of thing.

"A few weeks afterward this manufacturing concern applied to one of the banks I am connected with for a large loan. Their credit was apparently all right, but on the strength of what I had learned I held up that loan, and a short time later the concern failed."—Saturday Evening Post.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucuous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure ond so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

I WISH TO INFORM YOU that I have moved my shoe shop to No. 206 South Davie street, between John J. Phoenix and C. A. Clapp's stores, opposite the market house, where I will do first class work using only the best stock and save you ten per cent in price. L. B. Albertson.

He saw the hole in the sack when he was filling it. But it was such a little hole that he thought it wouldn't matter. Out of that little hole he lost his grain while taking it to market.

It's that way with holes in the health. None are so small but life can leak out of them. "I've got a little touch of indigestion" says one man. Another says, "my stomach feels a little out of sorts." It is just such little things which if neglected mean the total loss of health.

The one medicine for disorders and diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the activity of the whole digestive and nutritive system, clears away obstructions, stops the loss the body sustains by undigested or partly digested food, purifies the blood from the poisons resulting from imperfect digestion, and increases the secretions of the blood-making glands. "Golden Medical Discovery" has a wonderful record of cures of so-called "hopeless" cases.

Mr. Thos. H. Rudasill, of Henry, Lincoln Co., N. C., says: "After having suffered from inaction of the liver and all the troubles usually attending such a condition for over twenty years, and having deluged my system with floods of medicine from every available source, and being only temporarily benefited thereby, I applied to your institution for treatment You instructed me to take a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I am now doing. Although unable to strictly follow directions I have derived more actual benefit from the few bottles I have taken so far than from all the other remedies together.

Allow me to thank you for your prompt and courteous attention to my case as well as for the good received from it."

WILL THE NEGRO PRODUCE RAW MATERIAL ONLY?

In his speech last night Dr. Winston made the point that the negro would in the future find his field of labor, as heretofore in the South, in the production of raw material, while white labor would be engaged in the manufacture of raw material into the finished product. In this Dr. Winston certainly puts a reasonable interpretation upon conditions and possibilities in the South. Indications are that the negro is and will continue to be unfit for any skilled labor, while the white population of the South are taking to it naturally, and showing remarkable powers of adaptability. If it is even possible that the negro has it in him, white labor will be so far ahead of him by the time he wakes up to even an effort, that there will be little danger of competion from him. Thus the negro will sink to his natural position of economic as well as political and social inferiority. The race problem will really be settled on an economic basis anyway, and when his position here is determined, he will no longer contest for social position.

We confess that this is a very optimistic view of the subject. If there is no hitch in the working out of this proposition it will indeed be a most happy and natural solution of the problem. White labor will no longer be in competition, in bulk, with negro labor, and thus will be removed a great cause of friction and trouble. But suppose the negro shows unexpected ability and inclination, as a result of the few experiments now being made in working him in mills and giving him training in industrial schools. If such a thing happens and he becomes a competitor in the mills and shops, then indeed is our last stage worse than the first. This is why the experiments referred to are watched with so much interest, and it is why, too, that the white race needs to increase its activity ten fold in the line of mechanical and industrial skill.

WHY MR. HOLTON REFUSED.

After a period of 11 days of deliberation Chairman Holton refuses to accede to Chairman Simmon's invitation to have the candidates of the two parties to engage in a joint discussion. Of course Mr. Holton's excuse that he does this for the purpose of maintaining peace and good order is not the real cause. It is, of course, an excuse instead of a reason, the real reason naturally being that Mr. Holton is unwilling to pit his head candidate against Mr. Simmons'.

Chairman Simmons, in refusing to accept the Populist invitation to a joint discussion, certainly saw through the little game that Butler and Holton had set for him, and his refusal to fall in put the game all up to them. The fusion scheme which has not yet been consummated, doubtless was for Butler to challenge Simmons, and if that were accepted Holton would do the same. Then they would proceed to join forces by dropping Adams and Shuford, making Thompson and Dockery the fusion candidates, and so on through the ticket, thus pitting Thompson, who is the only man they have that could make any show, against Aycock. All this fine scheme was broken up by the refusal of Simmons to recognize Butler's layout, and thus Mr. Holton is only able to beg the question when asked to meet the Democratic candidates.

No doubt Taylor is glad that the Supreme Court let him out of the thing.

Prof. Jerome Dowd, in a suggestive article elsewhere, hits the nail squarely on the head in regard to our architecture. The old Southern style had a great deal of sameness, but it was distinctive, perhaps characteristic, which the new is not.

INTERESTING RALEIGH LETTER.

Scheme of the Political Twins to Secure a Triangular State Canvass—Late Political Developments—Some Work for the Legislature to Do Next Month—Late News Notes.

Special Correspondence.

RALEIGH, May 22.—It is really the fact that some of the Populist "leaders" are anxious to secure a joint debate between Aycock and Cy. Thompson, and on the day when Chairman Simmons declined the proposition of Chairman Butler to that effect a prominent Pop.-Rep. office-holder here said to me that 'Simmons' declination doesn't settle the matter; we'll get 'em together yet."

Since then the opposition twins have been scheming to bring this about, and when Simmons wrote to Holton two weeks ago and solicited a joint debate between Aycock and Spencer Adams and the other Democratic and Republican nominees, several leading "fusionists"—for they are fusionists still, and are today working as loyally and harmoniously together as ever, and to the same common end—at once saw the opportunity to work a scheme, which if successfully managed, would accomplish their purpose.

Chairman Holton did not get Chairman Simmons' letter of invitation promptly, it is alleged—the accommodating mail got out of joint some how, or else this particular letter must have fallen into a convenient hiding place on Holton's desk and refused to come to light until a few days ago, ten days or more after date.

This was all very obliging on the part of that erratic epistle, and especially fortunate and accommodating, not to say "foreordained," for Holton and Butler.

But the latter learns of its existence "through the newspapers," and it is said that it at once became highly important to the "dear people" that Butler should arrange with Holton for a "joint canvass" between the twins—ludicrous as it may appear to the uninitiated. Then you see, in order to secure a discussion between the Democratic and Republican candidates, Mr. Holton would hold that it was necessary to start a triangular debate—because he (Mr. Holton) could not be so discourteous to his twin brother (Mr. Butler) as to show partiality in accepting the invitation of Mr. Simmons and refusing the "challenge" of Mr. Butler.

Then what?

SCHEME TO SAVE ADAMS.

One of two results (either of which would be preferable to having Aycock flay Adams alive and exhibit the latter gentleman's deficiencies and general unfitness all over the state to a disgusted constituency) must follow: There would be no joint canvass at all (in case Simmons continued to refuse to consider the Populists as a party "entity" and therefore not entitled to the consideration shown a regular and separate organization,) or else Thompson would be let into the game to help Spencer, incidentally, and the opportunity desired—that of distracting the public mind for the real question at issue—would be secured. Mr. Holton's reply to Mr. Simmons will reach the latter today, probably, according to a statement made by Holton while here last week.

It was a nice, innocent, amusing little game, and so well played as to turn out to have been entirely harmless as well. Butler dies hard but he is dying.

Why under the sun, any real friend of Dr. Cy Thompson should actually and really desire to sacrifice him upon the altar of Aycock's eloquence and argument is more than I can conceive. The scheme must have been hatched by his enemies and a few deluded friends fooled into advocating it.

Dr. Thompson is unquestionably the best speaker and shrewdest politician in the Pop.-Rep. aggregation—and that is easily said—but those who heard the debate between him and Mr. Aycock in 1898, and particularly the discussion at Concord (which this writer reported for a Raleigh daily paper) all know that he is no match for the "oratorical gladiator of the east," and in the very nature of things would suffer severely from about with him this year—even if he had a just and popular cause to advocate. With opposition to the amendment for his text Dr. Cy. would simply be annihilated by the man who is endowed and equipped as few men in North Carolina have been, and who commands and wins the admiration (and generally the votes) of all who listen to his superb speeches.

WORK FOR THE EXTRA SESSION.

The suggestion made in these letters last week to the effect that Governor Russell might be induced to call the general assembly in extraordinary session, as provided by law, and thus "relieve the situation" somewhat, especially with reference to meet the expenses necessarily incident to an extra session if held, as now scheduled, as an "adjourned" session, was widely discussed here.

All agree that it would be a happy solution of the matter, and not a few subscribe to the writer's opinion, viz., that Governor Russell might be induced to call it. Of course there would necessarily have to be an understanding and arrangements perfected accordingly. The governor himself has not as yet expressed himself on the subject, nor is he likely to do so unless approached more directly. Whether that will be done by the proper parties, this writer is not able to say at this time.

The extra session will be held, however, in either event, and there is considerable important business which it ought to attend to. In addition to that outlined last week, there are the textile school bill and the present laws affecting certain insurance companies which ought to be taken up. The former (which passed the house by a large majority, and was never voted on in the senate,) should be passed. That provision of the existing law affecting insurance companies to such an extent as to have driven from the state a few of the very best life companies in America—one or two of which I know to have had the largest business in North Carolina of any probably, and numbered among the oldest and soundest and best managed in the world—should be amended so as not to inflict this burden on thousands of the best people of the state who are insured in these companies, to say nothing of our citizens who earned their living in North Carolina by working for these companies.

OLD CONFEDS OFF TO THE REUNION.

Division headquarters will leave Raleigh next Monday (May 28) at 3.50 for Louisville, via, Asheville, in a through special Pullman-car train.

Gen. Julian S. Carr, commander-in-chief of the N. C. Division of Confederate Veterans, who will head the division at the Louisville reunion next week, has announced the full list of maids of honor, including seventy-five of the most beautiful young women in North Carolina, and all the children or descendants of Confederate soldiers. Miss Esther Ransom, of Northampton, as sponsor, and Miss Martha W. Phillips, of Edgecombe, as chief maid of honor, were selected some time ago. The reunion at Louisville this year promises to be one of the most successful of all, and the splendid contingent which Gen. Carr will carry from North Carolina will contribute largely to that end. Gen. Carr has not only given his personal attention to the matter, but (I learn from some of those charged with looking after details) that he has furnished a great deal of money again to insure the enjoyment of the old soldiers, especially the indigent and those not able to defray their own expenses in attending the reunions—the one annual event in which they take most interest. Hundreds of those from North Carolina who will be in Louisville next week will attend because their patriotic chieftain furnished them with uniforms and defrayed their expenses. No wonder the old soldiers love Julian S. Carr so devotedly.

ARCHITECTURE IN GREENSBORO.

PROF. JEROME DOWD WRITES OF IT.

Greensboro is not Behind Any City of its Size in Beauty and Variety of its Buildings---The South has not an Architecture Peculiar to Itself---Prof., Dowd's Idea of What it Should be.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

During a recent visit to your city I took a ride over the principal streets, and was very much pleased to note the improvements in architecture within the past few years. The South is about to take the lead of the world in architecture, and Greensboro is not behind any city of its size in the beauty and variety of its buildings. The architecture of its churches is especially pleasing, and the residences along the boulevard leading out to the Cone factory, are equal to those to be seen on any street in our State. It is a great pity that more of our Southern cities do not make up and lay out more wide boulevards such as this.

Until about 1880 there was very little variety of style and very little interest taken in architecture anywhere in the South. After that date, however, with the rapid growth of the population and wealth in many cities, the newer portions began to be built up with residences of the modern type. The new houses offered pleasing contrasts to the old ones and soon people able to build good houses began to vie with each other in the effort to achieve the most artistic success. The interest in architecture which at first was spasmodic has become general and is now in some cities a passion. There is probably no portion of the world where architecture is receiving so much attention and it is doubtful if anywhere more varied or more artistic houses are to be found. However, it is a question whether we have as yet any architecture that is distinctly Southern or suitable to our climate and character. The Colonial style that we built in before the war was plain, solid, dignified, like our people. The houses we now build are copies of New England architecture, many of them the work of New England architects, and seem to have no special fitness for this locality and no characteristics of our people. According to my view, dwellings in the South should be well broken so as to produce shadow effects, and should have sharp points and angles, giving an effect of lightness and cheerfulness. The gable should be somewhat shaded by projecting eves and the porches should be large and supported by substantial colonial pillars, suggesting protection from the sun, and hospitality.

A FEMININE FAILING.

"I saw by a paper last week that a colored woman was excluded from testifying in court because she didn't know her right hand from her left and was therefore esteemed too ignorant for her evidence to be of any value," said an observant man yesterday. "Now, do you know I don't believe one woman out of six knows her right hand from her left without stopping to consider the matter.

"I was standing in the foyer of a theater the other day at a matinee watching the audience, mostly feminine, as it passed in. Well, each maid handed her check to the usher, and he called out 'First door to the right' or 'Second door to the left,' as the case might be. With hardly an exception those girls turned in the wrong direction; then they'd pause to consider, exclaim, 'We're going the wrong way!' and skurry back again.

"This happened so often that I spoke to the usher about it.

"'They always do it,' he replied laconically. 'I usually point so they'll know the way, but I've neglected to do that today. They're all right if they stop to think, but they never do think.'

"I myself know an intelligent young woman who has to make a little motion as if she were writing with both hands before she can determine the right one, and she declares that all her acquaintances are affected in like manner, so perhaps this is a general feminine failing, and the colored witness was unjustly excluded." — Baltimore News.

A little social life is good for one. As time goes on and the old friends have gone to their promotion it is well to keep up one's interest in the world of today by cultivating friendly relations with those about us.—Ladies' Home Journal.

It may be good for us to remember, as an English novelist tells us, that the shade of each departed day falls on our graves.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE LINK THAT BINDS.

JACKSON, TENN., NOV. 23.

I was subject to miscarriage for three years, and suffered constantly with backache. I wrote to you for advice, and after using three bottles of Wine of Cardui, according to your directions, I am strong and well, and the mother of a fine girl baby.

Mrs. E. N. JOWERS.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

There is no use talking—a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the ordeal of labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and strong, well-fitted to grow to maturity in perfect health. The mother, too, passes through the trial with little pain and no dread. Wine of Cardui is truly a wonderful medicine for women.

BELIEVED IN GHOSTS

DR. ELLIOTT COUES SAID THAT HE OFTEN SAW THEM.

The Famous Ornithologist's Description of the Spirit of a Dead Friend Who Appeared to and Conversed With Him In His Room.

Dr. Elliott Coues, the famous ornithologist and member of the American Academy of Sciences, was long recognized as the foremost advocate of belief in the existence of ghosts. He had promised several of his friends that, if able to do so, he would appear to them after his own demise, and they are still waiting, with no little interest, to see if he can carry out the agreement.

"I have myself seen the ghosts of a good many dead persons," said the doctor one day. "I remember one occasion when I had just gone to bed, the light being turned out, I was composing myself to slumber when I suddenly became aware of a presence in the room. The impression conveyed to my mind was that it was the presence of a certain person lately deceased, with whom I had been on very intimate terms. In fact, I felt an overpowering sense of the nearness of the individual in question.

"About the same moment there arose slowly from the floor a nebulous mass of what looked like shining white vapor, which began to take shape, as did the smoke from the casket opened by the fisherman in the 'Arabian Nights'' tales. Gradually it assumed a more distinct outline, until it presented a radiant image of my friend. The lips appeared to move, and from them came an intelligible utterance, a message in short, from the departed. I do not care to say what that message was.

"I can assure you that the vision was no dream, and the nature of the message was such as to eliminate, to my own satisfaction at all events, the theory of hallucination. What, then, was this shape of shining white vapor? Was it a human soul? It is a question pregnant with intense interest.

"Each of us, I believe, has in him a ghost, which ordinarily is confined to the precincts of the body. When I die, my ghost leaves my body permanently, and, having done so, perhaps it may continue to be the vehicle and means of expression of conscious will, memory and understanding. St. Paul says, 'There is a natural body and a spiritual body.' It is of the spiritual body that I am speaking.

"Our senses take cognizance of no forms of matter except those which are in a certain degree of condensation, but the spiritual body may be of a more rarefied and tenuous substance. The nonappearance of ghosts to us may be a question not of the existence of specters, but of the acuteness of our perceptive faculties.

"My own experience is that the coming of an apparition is always preceded by a curious sensation which I call the 'ghost chill.' When this symptom arrives, the threshold of consciousness seems to be shifted to the extent of rendering possible a perception of something ordinarily invisible. The change is usually very brief, lasting only a few seconds, during which the manifestation occurs.

"One reason that I have for believing the evidence of my own senses in this matter is that on several occasions the apparition of my own personality has presented itself to other persons in places where my body was not at the time. Some years ago I was in Chicago, at an ordinary evening party with about 40 friends, when an individual in Washington, who did not even know where I was, was visited by my phantasm and received from it a brief message stating where I was at the time and giving the names of two or three of the guests present—persons with whom the observer was unacquainted. This was one of the rare cases where a ghost made itself audible.

"You ask what would happen if one should approach a ghost such as I have described and try to touch it. My reply is that there would certainly be no danger in doing so, for specters never do anybody any harm, the fear of them entertained by most people being simply a dread of that which is unknown and not understood. Whatever is unknown is always terrible. But the phantom is composed of matter too tenuous to present any obstacle, and I do not doubt that it would dissolve and disappear if you attempted to walk through it."—Washington Post.

AN ANCIENT BELIEF.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of siatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the affliction is demoniac enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

Fish Living In Hot Water.

There is a pond at Golconda which is fed by the waters from the hot springs. This pond has an area of two or three acres, and the temperature of the water is about 75 degrees, and in some places where the hot water bubbles up from the bottom the temperature is almost up to a boiling point. Recently a discovery has been made that this warm lake is literally alive with carp, some of which are more than one foot long. All efforts to catch them with a hook and line have failed, and they will not touch the most tempting bait. A few of them have been shot, and, contrary to the general supposition, the flesh was hard and palatable.

What He Thought of It.

The following retort is recorded of Mr. Maurice Barrymore: Once at the Hoffman House, New York, an English stranger interfered with the conversation of a knot of friends by a long tirade against all things American. He finished by an attack on our spelling.

"Why, you can't even spell correctly in this confounded country! Honour, h-o-n-o-r; labour, l-a-b-o-r. What do you think of that, Barry?"

"Well," replied Barrymore slowly and distinctly, "as far I should judge, where honor and labor are concerned U would never enter into the question!"

His Ability.

Old Crusty—You ask for my daughter? Why, young man, at your present salary you could not even dress her.

Suitor—Oh, yes, sir; I could keep her in gloves!

Old Crusty—Gloves! Do you mean to insinuate that my daughter would only wear gloves?

Suitor—Pardon me, sir; I asked only for her hand.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for conghs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sel Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

"DANGER IN THE EARTH AND AIR; DANGER EVERYWHERE."

A Wise and Venerable Doctor Talks about Advanced Science.

In a leading hotel, in a great city, a famous and aged physician was conversing. Listening to his wise and sententious discourse, were a group of well dressed men, evidently lawyers, business men and commercial travelers.

My firm belief, is "that medical science is certain yet to show that all diseases without exception are caused by invisible germs which are living organisms. Here is the germ of that terrible disease diphtheria. Here is the bacillus of typhoid fever; and here is the still more dreadful bacillus of tubercle which causes that most destructive of all diseases, consumption. This of that very common and supposed incurable disease, catarrh."

"I wish, Doctor," said the traveling man, "that you would tell us about catarrh. I have had it for years, and I am thoroughly discouraged."

The Doctor answered. "Catarrh, like diphtheria, consumption, typhoid fever, and a host of other diseases, is the result of a microbe invading the blood and attacking specially the mucous membrane. This foul and most disgusting disease is especially prevalent in the United States and it is rare to meet one who is not, or has not been troubled more or less with it. How often is he or she obliged to remain at home from pleasant entertainments, deprive themselves of many intellectual treats, from fear of the disagreeable odor arising from catarrhal affections. In its worst phase, the patient becomes loathsome both to himself and his friends.

"I believe," continued this great physician, "that the true way to heal catarrh is to medicate the blood. This can be done only by powerful alteratives which act as blood purifiers."

Betsy A. Marett, of Manistee, Manistee Co., Mich., writes:

Dear Sirs:—For ten years I was a sufferer from general debility and chronic catarrh. My face was pale as death. I was weak and short of breath. I could hardly walk, I was so dizzy and had a ringing in my head all the time. My hands and feet were always cold. My appetite was very poor. On getting up in the morning, my head swam so I was often obliged to lie down again. I had awful pains in the small of my back. I had a continual feeling of tiredness. My muscular power was almost entirely gone, and I couldn't go half a dozen steps without stopping to rest, and often that much exercise caused me to have a pain in my side. It seemed as though the blood had left my veins. The doctors said my blood had all turned to water. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I tried the best physicians in the state, but failed to get any relief. My husband got me a bottle of Johnston's Sarsaparilla. I took it, and then I bought another. When these had been used, I was somewhat improved in health. I continued its use, and felt I was growing stronger; my sleep was refreshing, and it seemed as if I could feel new blood moving through my veins. I kept on taking it, and now consider myself a well and rugged woman. I work all the time, and am happy. I am positive that the Sarsaparilla saved my life. The sick headaches I have had since childhood, have disappeared, and my catarrh has almost entirely left me. I cannot be too thankful for what Johnston's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I recommend all women who have sick headaches to use your Sarsaparilla.
